Now remove the glove box as per the instructions in the DICE Installation linked at the top of the post. It involves taking out 5 screws. Very easy.

Once you run the three cables haphazardly through the glove box they should poke out of the console like this:

Step 6: Install GPS antenna, other cables and test the Dynavin unit a unit like Grom or replace your head unit with an aftermarket one. I opted to go with the Dynavin n6, were I to do it today it would either be the new N7 or the new Avin unit. The factory integration isn't that difficult, but it only allows calling, not streaming of digital music or anything else.
